The 600 year old walled city Ahmedabad, founded by Ahmed Shah has today become India's First World Heritage City.

The Landmark city where Mahatma Gandhi began India's Freedom Struggle has stood witness to the finest architectural monuments in the structures of Hindu and Jain temples as well as been one of the standing examples of Indo-Islamic architecture and Hindu Muslim art.

During the time of Gandhi the city became the seat of Nationalist Uprising and today still retains its enigmatic charm as one of the essential representation of what constitutes the culture of India.

Thanks to its changing monarchic lineage in the past, the city bears testimony to the prowess of Hindu, Muslim and Jain craftsmen. On one side of the city is the 15th century Bhadra Fort and on the other is the Jhulta Minar or Swaying Minaret and The Sidi Saiyyed Mosque & also one of the finest specimens of Indo-Saracenic style.
